SEEN, HEARD AND TOLD

By W. W. WHITAKER
When he feels like it.

There is one new candidate for sheriff this week in the person of Mr. Maurice Phillips of Gore Springs. Mr. Phillips' formal announcement will appear next week.

Saturday was an unusually quiet farmers holiday in Grenada. Farmers were busy fighting grass and chopping cotton. Then, too, showers fell Saturday afternoon.

Mrs. Max Hammettt, attractive representative from Jackson, Miss. Hqs for Fielding Wright, candidate for Governor, visited Grenada Thursday and Friday, in her swing through this and several other North Mississippi counties. Mrs. Hammett visited Mrs. Whitaker at the GCW office Friday, and Dr. J. K. Avent at Grenada Hospital. Dr. Avent is for ex-Governor Wright.

Mr. Roy J. Resch, president and Mr. Blake Thomas, executive vice p. of McQuay, Inc., who spent several days in Grenada inspecting the building of the McQuay plant, left Saturday to return to their home in Minneapolis. The foundation of this large plant is almost completely laid, and the building itself will soon be erected. This new plant is located on Highway 51 South, on property purchased from Mrs. Catherine Ross Poovey.

Bill Fedric reports that the McQuay building is going up and should be completed by the first of September. The two McQuay plants in Minneapolis have been shut down and machinery is en route to Grenada where all available storage space has been rented. The McQuay officials continue to be most pleased with our local help and are looking forward to a very pleasant and profitable operation here.

We are certainly happy to hear that Rice Pressgrove is improving.

Within a few weeks after the Farmers-Businessmen Banquet, Grenada is striving to get a feed mill. In the past Grenada farmers have had to take their grain to Batesville or Winona to be ground and mixed. The Agriculture Committee is to be commended for trying to bring this service here.

Just who will get this expensive equipment here is still unknown.

The Sentinel-Star really looks good with its new coat of paint.

Well, the Little League Baseball seasoned opened here Tuesday evening, with a good attendance. We hope to carry the schedule and standing from week to week.

Bill Hannan and other are to be commendel for their work with the Little League.

Rodney Defenbaugh announces that the Dedication Day Program (for Grenada Lake) has been worked out with boat races by Grenada Boating Club, a 45-minute fire-wo k display depicting the patriotic theme a Red Cross water pageant, amphibious displays, and the National Guard helicopter. All branches of service have promised cooperation. The Grenada Lions Club will have charge of the contest to find a young lady to preside over the festivities. Announcement of the speaker for the occasion should come within the next few weeks. A change of date until sometime in August has been necessitated because of the possibility of getting a national figure as speaker.

Editor and author Hodden Carter of Greenville, Miss. was guest speaker Monday at the Grenada Rotary Club.

Mr. Carter brought a forceful message on the need for citizens to awaken to the dangers of Communism which threaten our American Way of Life. He discussed the need for better education, for an understanding of the segregation problem which is facing the nation, especially here in the South, and although Mr. Carter spoke most seriously, he managed to entertain his audience as well. Very often jokes are a cover-up for more serious remarks.

Mr. Carter managed to get the idea over that an ignorant person is one ripe for Communism, saying Mississippi has poorly equipped schools, under paid teachers and the resulting mental shortcomings of its youth. Mr. Carter said this condition of illiteracy was proven by the recruits examined from over the nation by the army, when they entered military service.

Mr. Carter urged that the American youth be indoctrinated with Americanism as a shield against communis.

At this writing Thursday morning Mr. Whitaker's condition remains about the same, possibly slightly improved.

Yankees, Red Legs Victors In Little League Openers

(By Hugh Ketchum)

The small fry of Grenada took over Tuesday night as Little League baseball came to town with two rousing games at the Fairground diamond. Board President Bill Hannan welcomed Little League Ball to Grenada and Dr. R. A. Clanton, Mayor of the City, tossed the New York Yankee-autographed ball to Ray Lee Whittemore, officially opening the summer competition among four teams.

The Rev. Felix Sutphin gave the invocation after which Bob Alexander, master of ceremonies, welcomed the large crowd of people who, by their attendance, were helping Little League get off to a fine start in Grenada. The sponsors, managers and all who assisted with the project were thanked by Bill Hannan.

In the season's opener the Yankees, coached by Bob Ellard, overpowered Coach Carl Cooper's Rebels 11 to 4. L. D. Blakely set down the Rebs with seven hits, striking out 14 of a possible 18 hitters. He issued three free passes and was never in trouble except in the fourth and final innings. In the meantime the Yankees pounded out 17 hits off Henry Brister, scoring in every inning except the third and fifth.

Each member of the Yankees hit safely. Clarance Fowler and Ronnie Vaughn had three safeties; Brooks Hill, William Thomas, Charles Greer and Bill Gammon each had two hits and Gerald Lantrip. Richie Defenbaugh and Blakely each hit safely once. One of Greer's blows was a home run. Wayne Gaines led the Rebel attack with three hits in three trips. Other safeties were made by Philley, Wilbourn, Knight and Tollison.

Red Legs Score

Coach Paul McElroy's Red Legs scored in every inning to register a 15 to 10 win over Epp Smith's GI Sox in the second game. The Sox rallied strongly in the final three innings, but could not overcome the big lead established b ythe Red Legs in the early frames.

The Red Legs used 11 hits, including a home run by Pitcher Horton Townes, and 11 bases on ball to pound out the victory over the GI Sox, who also counted 11 hits. The Red Legs scored two runs in the first six in the second, four in the third, one in the fourth and two in the fifth while the Sox did all their scoring in the third, fourth and fifth.

Jimmy Austin and Yancy Williamson led the Red Leg attack on Harold Connerley and Payne Spence with three safeties each while Jesse Whitten had two hits and Horton Townes, Howard Dorn and Larry Carson each had one hit. Larry Granthham and Bert Bays each connected for three safeties to feature the Sox batters; Spence had two hits and John Morgan, Downs and Peggy each hit onct.

JR. AUXILIARY APPRECIATIVE OF COMMUNITY'S SUPPORT

In citing the progress of the Grenada Chapter of Junior Auxiliary of the the past fiscal year, which ended April 30, members of the club are most grateful to the merchants and citizens of Grenada for their interest and support. Without the backing of the community the Auxiliary could accomplish little in their rehabilitation program for underprivileged children.

The Junior Auxiliary spent $2,043.74 on the 60 children on their roll last year. Much of this money was raised by selling tickets for the Terri Lee doll and wardrobe and the complete fishing outfit given away last December. Club members were also responsible for raising $10 each by baby-sitting, bridge benefits, baking cakes, or whatever manner they chose to make their quota. Grenadans responded wholeheartedly to all methods of fund raising.

Approximately $600.00 of the $2,043.74 was spent on new clothing for the children last year. $500 brightened Chrstmas day for boys and girls who knew no Santa Claus. Through the cooperation and interest of Grenada dentists only $325.00 was spent on dental bills, a meager figure considering the vast amount of work done for numerous children

Standing (left to right) are: Mrs. O. W. Scott, Jr., Treasurer; Mrs. William Hinter, Recording Secretary; and Mrs. John H. Mitchell, Jr., Corresponding Secretary.

The balance of $618.78 was spent in different ways. Lunch tickets were purchased for the hungry and work books were bought for the unsupplied. Tickets were paid for and given to children to enable them to attend worthwhile school performances. Free milk at recess was offered the undernourished.

Expensive medicine was purchased for a diabetic child and drugs and food were donated to a rheumatic child. Two tonsillectomies were performed and five children's eyes refracted for glasses. Prenatal treatment and medicine was furnished a mother of one of the needy families. Food was taken to several families on occasion of emergency.

The colored school shared in last year's program. Eighty colored children received free lunches and financial aid was given 29. Many white and colored children benefited from the clothing drive.

Residential Polio, Heart, Red Cross, Master Seal and Cancer drives were conducted by the Club and Grenada's cooperation was typically excellent. Members played active parts in promoting Girl Scouts and Cub Scouts — and club workers gave of their time in the Crippled Children's Clinic and TB Mobile Unit.

The merchants and citizens of Grenada, who have been so instrumental in helping the Junior Auxiliary to help others should feel a great satisfaction in the organization's attainments. For the interest manifested by Grenada people, the Junior Auxiliary is eternally grateful, the members and officers state.

OBSERVANCE OF 20th ANNIVERSARY OF KEY BROTHERS FLIGHT IS SET

The 20th anniversary of the most important single aeronautical achievement in Mississippi history, the establishment of the world record endurance flight by Al and Fred Key in 1935, will be observed in Meridian on June-July 2, inclusive.

The famed Key brothers established the yet unbroken record of 653 hours and 34 minutes aloft on July 1, 1935, after two earlier unsuccessful, attempt [illegible] aviation en[illegible] from all over the na[illegible] are expected to join Meri[illegible] in paying tribute to the Meridian boys who performed the feat in a Curtis Robin aircraft with a Wright Whirlwind engine over what is now known as Key Field.

The sturdy plane, known as the "Ole Miss", is now being taken out of mothballs and will be completely rebuilt for its last flight to a rendezvous with history in the Smithsonian Institute where it will rest alongside such great aircraft as Lindbergh's Spirit of St. Louis [illegible] the machine first flown by the Wright Brothers at Kitty [illegible]

The program, [illegible] by Meridian civic clubs, the Junior and Senior Chamber of Commerce, veteran and [illegible] organizations, will open [illegible] evening of June 30th [illegible] culminated on July 2nd [illegible] the "Ole Miss" will be piloted to Washington by the Keys for acceptance as an exhibit at the Smithsonian museum.

The record-breaking flight of the Key Brothers began quietly enough on June 4, 1935. But when they came down 28 days later more than 10,000 highly excited spectators were jamming the Meridian airport.

Born in Kemper county near DeKalb, the Key Brothers had been flying about 10 years when they took the "Ole Miss" aloft on its historic flight.

The 1935 victory was not accomplished easily, however. In fact, it was won on their third attempt. They were forced down by engine trouble once after approximately 100 hours in the air. On a second attempt they remained aloft for 200 hours before bad weather grounded them.

Previous official records had been set by the Hunter Brothers, General Carl Spatz, Reg Robbins, and others, but the mark established by Al and Fred Key was so far beyond any of these that it has never since been beaten.

The feat, far from serving merely as a stunt, has contributed greatly to the furtherance of aviation. Refueling of jet bombers in air today might not be as commonplace were it not for the determination of the Meridian brothers.

Both of the Keys to this day are contributing to the furtherance of aviation after chalking up enviable military records.

Fred and Al, on the morning of Pearl Harbor attack, were flying B-17 bombers to Newfoundland to be delivered to England. These ships, of course, were diverted, sent to the West Coast and to the South Pacific. In service there during almost all of the air conflict, both were awarded the Dinstinguished Flying Cross. In the latter stages of the war, Al was transferred to England where he commanded a heavy bomber squadron.

Since the war, Fred has made his home in Meridian where he is manager of the Municipal Airport, Key Field, and operator of Key Brothers Flying Service. Al, a colonel in the Air Force, at the present is stationed at Bogota, Colombia, South America, where he heads the United States Air Mission to that country.

For a number of years prior to this assignment, he was with the All-Weather flying service experimenting in blind flying, cosmic ray research, and was for some time stationed in the Pentagon in Washington.

The observance next month will be participated in by all of the men who took a major part in the endurance flight. Among these are Captain Eddie Rickenbacker, Colonel Roscoe Turner, Luke Williamson and Bill McDonald, wingmen with General Claire Chennault's old "Flying Circus". Also on hand will be A. D. Hunter, who worked with Al and Fred to covert the Curtis-Robin into the "Ole Miss." He is now working to help restore the craft.

The committee in charge of the observance has also announced plans for securing an outstanding exhibit of modern type commercial and military aircraft.

In establishing their record the Key brothers travelled the equivalent of more than two trips around the world, consumed 6,000 gallons of gasoline and 300 gallons of oil, and made 438 contacts in air for re-fueling.

Al and Fred Key at the time they established an endurance record which has stood for 20 years. The "Ole Miss" below, shown in the process of being re-fueled, will be taken out of mothballs for its last journey to the Smithsonian Institute in Washington.

John E. Gray of Grenada is speaker this week on The Everlasting Light program over WNAG, sponsored by Emmanuel Baptist Church in Grenada. The 30-minute program begins at 8:30 each week day. Reared here the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Gray Sr., his friends have especially appreciated these spiritual messages.

Town Talk

BY FED ROBINSON

Many people are opposed to giving the second chance to those who have done wrong, but I'm not.

Think of this: Out of my window I can see a big tree. Several weeks ago new leaves started growing right out of the hard dead-looking wood. A freeze came and they all died. The brown leaves hung there in a death-like grip. Now the tree is completely covered with green leaves again. If this can happen to a tree, how much more to a living person? Jeremiah went down to the house of the potter and saw the broken vessel remade, and he said God could do likewise for people.

The second change is the one we all need and let us not be too slow in doing what we can see that everyone gets his second change in life if he needs it.

Modern employers heve learned the value of giving employes another change to make good. In the old days if a man came a little late to work, or if he was absent once or twice he was fired. What the employer was trying to was to scare the rest of them into toeing up to the mark in all the rules and regulotions and if necessary there were some examples made. But now - a - day big companies have discovered the cost is tremendous in turn-over of personnel and many sound and reasonable plans are worked out to find the cause of unhappy or disinterested employes and to their surprise I believe, they found most of the gripes were justified. Much more care is exercised in the employment of people -its harder to get a good job now -but once you are on the payroll the chances are very good that you can stay there if you want to and have permanent and pofitable employment plus many security benefits which is paid for by the boss.

A young lady - a teenage - spoke to our club the other day on safe driving. She had won a declamaton contest for her speech and it was plain for her speech and it was plain to see to see why.

She related the risk some teenagers took in showing off with an auto. She said she had known of groups of youngstsers who would take the car out of town on a stretch of straight highway and get up their speed to about 80 miles and turn the steering wheel lose and cry "chicken" to anyone who attempted to take hold of the wheel. Also she said, there was a game the kids played with the speeding car. One boy or girl would operate the accelerator, one the clutch, and another the brake, all this being done with their hands while no one at all steered it. Isn't that awful? We do hope none of our fine teesage friends in Grenada have ever played this crazy game and that they never do. A local judge here said to a speedster, "Yes, I know you didn't kill anyone this time but you can't deny that you were practicing for it." Many people who are studying this problem believe auto killings will continue untill traffic law violations are made jail offenses, so we believe the time is coming when a little money fine will not answer for reckless driving but rather a cool wet concrete cell will be the answer. Don't let it happen to you youngster oldster.

A psychiatrist gets paid for asking a man the same questions his wife asks for nothing.

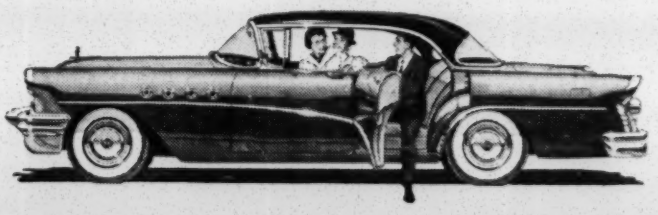
It's the new kind of hardtop—
The 4-Door Riviera!



THERE seems to be some confusion about what a hardtop really is, and we'd like to set the matter straight.

A hardtop is a car that looks like a Convertible with the top up—but has a solid steel roof overhead—and no center posts in the side window areas.

Up until just recently, it could be built in volume only with two doors—not more—because it would take wholly new structural principles to hinge another set of doors without floor-to-roof center posts.

But Buick came up with those new structural principles and is now building—in volume—hardtops with four doors.

You see one pictured here. It's the 4-Door Riviera. And it's taking the country by storm . . .

Because here, at long last, is an automobile with the sleek and sporty styling of a true hardtop—but with separate doors for rear-seat passengers, plus the added room of a full-size Buick Sedan.

On top of that, this beauty is all Buick—with the buoyant ride of Buick's all-coil springing—the walloping might of Buick's record-high V8 power—the whip-quick getaway and sizable gas savings of Buick's spectacular Variable Pitch Dynaflow.*

And it's available in Buick's two lowest-priced Series—the budget-tagged 188-hp SPECIAL, and the high-performance 236-hp CENTURY, illustrated here.

Come visit us for a first-hand meeting with the 4-Door Riviera—and see how quickly and how easily the last word in automobiles can be yours.

*Dynaflow Drive is standard on Roadmaster, optional at extra cost on other Series.

Festive Summer Luncheon

Ring and heart-shaped sandwiches of thin-sliced white bread topped with a tart combination of cream cheese, cranberry sauce, and lemon rind are an excellent accompaniment to a chicken mold for a wedding reception or other festive summer gathering.

CRANBERRY RING SANDWICHES

1 cup cranberry jelly
1 eight-ounce package cream cheese
1 teaspoon grated lemon rind
30 slices firm textured white bread

Beat jelly and cream cheese together with rotary beater until smooth. Stir in lemon rind. Cut slices of bread with cheese mixture and cut out ring pieces with doughnut cutter. The little round centers make choice bits of eating, too. If you don't have a doughnut cutter you can use a water glass to cut the circles and a small bottle top to cut out the hole in the center. These rings are easy to handle when made on a firm textured bread such as Arnold's Brick Oven bread. Yield: 30 sandwiches.

Two Irrigation Demonstration Scheduled Soon

All farmers interested in irrigation should plan to attend one of two demonstrations to be held in early June. The first will be held on Tuesday, June 7 at the Ladies Payne Farm on Highway 8, 4 miles west of Clarksdale. The second on the James McAndrew place 2 miles Northwest of Tocula off Highway 49E. Both programs will begin at 2 o'clock p.m. These demonstrations are specially designed to help the farmers do a better irrigation job and to enable the farmer who has yet bought irrigation equipment to decide the method to be used on his farm.

Dr. Ivan Wood, irrigation specialist, Federal Extension Service, Washington, D. C. will be on hand to assist with the demonstration. Some of the subjects to be covered at the demonstrations will be how to determine soil moisture, how to apply needed amounts of water, infiltration rates and lengths of run.

While there will be no display of irrigation equipment at these meetings, sufficient equipment will be on hand to demonstrate all methods of applying water now in use in Mississippi.

Feed Production

Grain sorghum is growing in popularity with Mississippi farmers. Combine grain sorghums are low growing, and hegari grows six to 10 feet tall. Both require the same fertilizer treatment. On most soils, nitrate is the fertilizer needed. Hegari at harvest time can be grazed off, cut in bundles and shocked to dry, of the heads can be cut off by hand and the stalks used for grazing.

Combine grain sorghum can be harvested direct with the combine as it is a low growing plant. A good variety of combine milo is Martin's. Grain sorghum can be planted thru late June following small grain harvest; or it can be planted on land that was too wet for early Spring planting. Grain sorghum is drought resistant. In rows 6 to 8 pounds of seed are ample for a stanl. About 2 cultivations will be all that are necessary.

Late Hay Crops

Sudan or millet are about the only hay crops that can be planted this late with a reasonable chance of success. Soybeans will make some hay, but are not as safe. Sudan or millet may be used for temporary grazing in mid or late Summer in case pastures get short.

Cotton Insects

Fleahoppers are causing damage in many cotton fields over the State where cotton is putting on squares. This tiny (about one-eighth inch long) bug is blasting pin-point squares. Early set bolls are heavier and fewer are required to make a pound of seed cotton than are later set bolls. So it will pay to protect the early crop. Loss of early pin-point squares can also cause the cotton plant to put on excessive vegetation and develop a whip-like stalk. Watch cotton and poison when any insects begin to damage the plants. Poison at weekly intervals for three weeks. A free circular on cotton insect control is available at the County Agent's office.

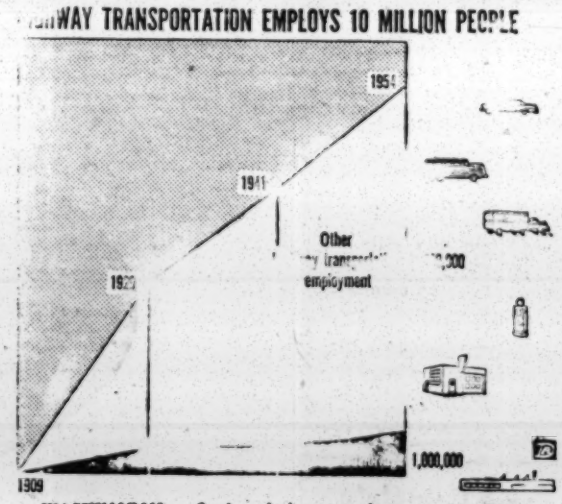
HIGHWAY TRANSPORTATION EMPLOYS 10 MILLION PEOPLE



WASHINGTON — Good roads and full employment are closely linked in America's future, according to the Automobile Manufacturers Association.

James J. Nance, president of the Association and president of the Studebaker-Packard Corporation, recently testified before Congress that the 40,000-mile Interstate Highway System must be completely modernized in the next 10 years if the nation is to realize its full potentialities in employment, family income and over-all economic development.

Highway transportation itself now employs some 10 million persons, Mr. Nance said. He also cited government studies showing that of the 11 million additional jobs needed in the next 10 years to serve our growing labor force, eight million must be in the service industries.

"The service industries," he stated, "are capable of tremendous future growth as our economy expands. But their past growth has been directly related to the growth of highway travel, and their future growth depends heavily on a continued rise in highway travel."

Last year's Dixie National Champion Baton Twirler in the senior division, Janie Blanca of Indianola, looks over and admires the trophies to be awarded first place winners in the two contests to be held at the University of Mississippi June 10. The contests, official events to name champions in three divisions from the Mid-South and two divisions from Mississippi, will take place on the last day of a Baton Twirlers Institute from June 5-10. Mississippi Twirlers will be eligible to compete in both contests, and a contestant doesn't have to attend the institute to be eligible to compete in the contests.

Medical Progress and Your Health

Psoriasis Now Treated With Internal Medication

Psoriasis, a disease which, until the year 1801, was erroneously thought to be leprosy, has baffled medical science until the present time. Nothing was known of its cause. It could sometimes be eradicated by external preparations made up of coal tar, mercury and other irritants, as well as exposure to sunlight, ultra-violet lights and X-rays—but its return to plague the sufferer could not be controlled. Appearing on all areas of the skin in sizes ranging from a pin head to large patches which could cover as much as 98% of the skin area, its disfiguring lesions brought untold agony and embarrassment to hundreds of thousands of people.

The first clue to its cause came to light during World War 2 in Germany. The disease became so scarce in Germany during those war years, that it was difficult to find enough people with psoriasis for demonstration to medical students. Coincidental with the scarcity of edible fats in the diets of the German people. This clue, together with experimental work of Dr. Lester Dragsted of the University of Chicago in 1938 when he isolated a pancreatic hormone which had beneficial effect upon the disease, led others to carry on this experimental work.

Research started in the city of Waterbury, Conn., and progressed from there to further experiments by Army and Navy physicians during World War 2. Doctors at the Boston Dispensary, in Boston, Mass., continued the studies which culminated in a medical report published in a New York state Medical Journal on July 1, 1954.

This report was authored by a world famous skin specialist connected with a leading New York City hospital and Professor of Dermatology in one of New York's leading medical schools.

He reported on a product called Lipan, which is taken internally in capsule form. Lipan supplies the pancreatic hormones and enzymes which are necessary to assist one suffering from psoriasis to properly digest and assimulate all foods consumed, but principally fats. For this reason, diet is not restricted. In fact, the report states fats should be consumed because they are necessary to properly lubricate the skin. Not only was the doctor successful in clearing the skin with Lipan but, having once cleared the skin, Lipan should be continued since the necessity for complete digestion of all foods and fats is a continuing one. A copy of that medical journal reprint for your physician can be obtained by writing to: Spot & Co., Inc., of Waterbury, Conn.

Grenada Lake - To Be Greatest Attraction In Mississippi Is Our Prediction!

Grenada Lake, shown below, is fast becoming what Mr. Whitaker said over and over again, "that Grenada Lake, properly exploited, would prove to be Grenada's Greatest Industry."

Work will soon start on the Hugh White State Park, for white people, by Lockett Lumber Co., and on Carver Point State Park, for colored people, by City Lumber Company. When these parks are completed, we predict that the ten cabins at Hugh White Park will be "booked solid" thru the summer months, by people from all over Mississippi, and nearby states. The cabins for Negroes at Carver Point, will probably be the same.

There are barbecue pits scattered throughout the picnic areas, with tables, and wood for fires, already cut for the pleasure of those who want to use them. Below the spillway, there are rest rooms, for white and colored, and a nice shed with concrete floor and two drinking fountains for fishermen or visitors.

There are boats for rent at Grenada Landing, and at Hugh White State Park.

Fish, and lots, caught, in good numbers, are: bream, crappie, bass, carp, and catfish. They are being caught in the main lake and below the spillway in the river. There has been a lot of nice crappie caught at both places. Bass will run from half a pound to three and four lbs. Bream are being caught below the spillway that will weigh ½ pound or better.

Grenada Lake has a sand beach, located about ½ mile from the gate to the spillway, where swimming and sun bathing is enjoyed by thousands.

Grenada Lake is "Putting Grenada, Mississippi on the Map".

Disney Pays Tribute to Legendary Hero In "Davy Crockett"

Walt Disney salutes a fabulous fighting man with "Davy Crockett, King of the Wild Frontier", his full length, wide-screen drama starring Fess Parker and Buddy Ebsen, with color by Technicolor.

"Davy was daring and contributed to America's growth", says Disney. "He proved that there are thrills and excitement in serving constructive causes."

Disney asserts that the American character is reflected in Crockett's career.

"Davy rose from humble origins to a position of national importance", Disney says. He lived by his motto, 'Be sure you're right, then go ahead.'

Depicting the adventurous life story of the Tennessee Indian scout who became a congressman and Alamo hero, 'Davy Crockett, King of the Wild Frontier' is released by Buena Vista. Norman Foster directed the production which is adapted from the original "Disneyland" TV shows.

This show will start at Grenada Theatre Wednesday, June 8, and continue thru Friday, June 10.

About Repentance

Lesson for June 5, 1955

IT IS easy to talk about large groups of people, even so large as to include millions of persons, as if they were one single person. We talk about "Russia" as if it were one big bandit. We talk about "America" as if the nation lived under one hat. We speak about General Motors or the Church in the singular; "It" does so and so or says this or that. Evangelists call on "America" to pent, as if America could walk down the aisle and shake the evangelist's hand and join the church.

Dr. Foreman

Now if there is one thing Christianity stands for, it is the responsibility of individuals, by themselves, before God. And yet there is some meaning in all the talk of immense aggregations of people as if they were single persons.

Seducing the People

In olden times, so olden that most people have forgotten all about them, there lived a king, not well-known to fame, named Manasseh. In his time a king could "be" the country in ways that no king now enjoys. Kings in those days had absolute power. The smart ones did not push their people too hard; they only held out the carrot, so to speak, in front of them. But a king, especially when his country was a small one like Manasseh's Judah, could just about make his country do what he wanted it to do. If the king was bad, the people were bad; if the king repented, the people repented with him. The days of such kings are over, nearly everywhere. And yet, without the title, there are men today whose desires, notions, ideals, prejudices, ambitions, hatreds and loves can be so communicated to others that they can deliver the vote, if they need to, of millions who follow their lead. It is said that King Manasseh "seduced the people." He did this without benefit of radio, TV, or advertising in slick magazines. Nowadays how easy it is to seduce the millions! One "spot" on one radio station can reach a hundred thousand people. Pictures can be made so lifelike that they can deceive almost anybody that is not smart. Seducing the people is simple, if you have the money.

Half-gods Arrive

"When half-gods go, the Gods arrive," sings a poet. You can turn that around and still be right. When God goes, half-gods will swarm in. When bad, Manasseh ruled his land, for a long time he would have nothing to do with the true God. But he was not an atheist, oh not by any means. He put up altars all over the place, even in the courts of the Lord, you could hardly get out of sight of some place of worship in Jerusalem. He dealt with mediums and with wizards. All sorts of bad religions and silly superstitions flourished under his majesty's patronage. You may be sure he was no lone idolator. You can hear them saying down on the farms, and out in the little villages, "well, if it's good enough for King Manasseh, it's good enough for me." So it is still and always. There have been times when religion "declined" as the quaint phrase puts it, here in America as in ancient Judah. But that was only the declining of the true religion. Other religions and cults and superstitions flock in to take Christianity's place. People simply will not live in a religious vacuum. They would rather be idolaters than atheists.

A High-flyer Humbled

This King Manasseh lost a war. For some time he was a prisoner in an enemy country. When he came back home again he was a changed man. Prison had given him leisure to think. Things were different in Judah after that. He did his best to undo the evils he had set the example in doing. He went to church, as we would say, and he listened to men of God. It was a little too late, for his son Amon had already gone too far in the ways of evil to turn back. But still it was well that he repented, for many of his subjects served the true God thereafter, as he did. Suppose America—that is to say, millions of Americans, leading men and women in every walk of life, repented this year of even one of our national sins—say drunkenness. It would be good to repent . . . but would that bring back all the lost week-ends?

Is There a Cure for Diabetes?

There is no cure for diabetes.

Ever since diabetes was discovered about 1552 B.C., some 200 years before the birth of King Tut, charlatans have claimed they had a "cure." Beware of all such claims. In 1921, however, a dependable treatment, although not a cure, was developed for diabetes. This preparation is Insulin.

Your physician is thoroughly familiar with this product and how it is employed to control diabetes. If he finds Insulin necessary in your case, we can supply it in exactly the right strength.

Southern Bell Sues Union

Southern Bell filed a $5,000,000 damage suit today against the Communications Workers of America (CIO), charging the union with a "Pattern of Violence" during the recent strike designed to destroy telephone facilities and interfere with communication service to the public in the nine states served by the Company.

The four-count suit, filed in the Davidson, Nashville, Tennessee County Circuit Court, said the CWA's "Ultimate Intent" was to force Southern Bell To agree to the demands which Company the Union was making upon the Southern Bell asked that the suit be heard by a jury.

The Union, its "Members and Others" joined an "Unlawful combination and conspiracy" to damage Southern Bell property and to shut down its Telephone exchanges, the suit alleged.

Atts of damages specifically set out in the complaint and intended to interrupt telephone service were "Directed, Procured, Instigated and Incited by the Defendant Union" according to the suit.

It said the Union "Embarked on a program on wanton, willful and malicious misconduct and property damage, "including the use of dynamite, fire arms and cable cuttings in Tennessee and elsewhere."

During the strike, which began on March 14, and ended May 25, violence was heavy in all nine states served by Southern Bell.

The suit also charged that the union "sought to accomplish its malicious and illegal purpose not only by physical damage - but also by threatening and intimidating - employees who elected to continue working during the strike."

It said the Union and its "agents" intimidated non-strikers by following them to and from work "in a threatening manner", subjecting them to "vile and obscene abuse of every character . . ., "Attacking their homes "by explosives, fire arms and other means". It was further alleged that employees "lives and health have been threatened . . . through the instrumentality of mob violence directed at them and their places of employment."

As a result of this "Pattern of Violence", Southern Bell was forced to close down temporarily its exchanges at Jellico, LaFollette, Greenback and Maryville, Tenn., and Middlesboro, Ky.

Violence and vandalism during the 10-week old strike "were performed by the agents, members and representatives of the union acting in furtherance of the strike called and directed by said union and within the scope of their authority."
